To be sent to ERASMUS coordinators at the universities

The German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD) finances supervised online German courses in preparation for ERASMUS studies in Germany

Dear colleagues,

the DAAD in its capacity as National ERASMUS Agency in Germany enables ERASMUS students from Poland, who will attend a German university, to participate in a preparatory online German course free of charge! The courses are supervised by tutors of Deutsch-Uni Online and financed by the DAAD.

The DAAD supplied us with vouchers for the individual course registration and asked us to distribute them to ERASMUS students. Now we ask you for help distributing these vouchers.

These few steps are needed:
- Please make a list of the students already planning their ERASMUS stay in Germany or those interested in a course, respectively. Note surname, name, and email address.
- Please send us this list. It is needed for the distribution of the vouchers with individually included access data (afterwards the list will be deleted).

The offer is valid until October 31, 2010. It is limited to 100 students from Poland. Hence, we ask you to return the list as soon as possible.

With this offer we will achieve a joint aim: The ERASMUS students will be better prepared concerning the language for their studies at the host university. This will assure better results and more positive experiences for their stay abroad. With this enterprise the DAAD is reacting to the encouragement of German universities to improve the German language proficiency of foreign ERASMUS students so that they can benefit more when attending university courses.

Kind regards,
