I. Scope of the manual.

This manual describes the activities that the author of the diploma thesis performs in the APD application. The process of supplementing the data necessary to describe the abstract, keywords, and submit the diploma thesis in electronic version and correspondence with the promoter and reviewers are described.

II. Logging into the application and form' elements.

The composition menu is used to navigate in the Archives of Diploma Theses (hereinafter abbreviated as APD) consists of two parts: on the black bar under the header with the application logo (top menu) and in the grey panel on the left side (left menu). The top menu divides the applications into several main sections, and in the left menu there are links to the pages that make up a given section. After logging into the application page, the My theses tab has information about your theses (left column), assignments (right column) and upcoming exams. Theses and tasks are grouped according to the type of activity to be performed.

The theses preview first shows theses with the latest date of defence. In preview tasks are shown first of all theses with the upcoming defence date, and then theses without the entry date and with the date of the defence in the past.

III. Completing the information about Diploma thesis in the APD application.

After clicking the link with the title of the thesis in the Tasks column, the system takes the user to data completion form. At the top of the form is the title of the diploma thesis and below the successive stages of the diploma thesis are presented. The stages are presented with a description of the task and with a specification of the person who is to perform this task.

a. Adding a Diploma thesis file.

On the file adding form, first we add the file with the diploma thesis.

Click the "Add files" button in the type line, we select the Thesis option from the list. We can add only one file specified as Thesis.

Below the definition of the file type, the application will display the requirements for the uploaded file:

- file format - (most often it will be a PDF file),
- size - specifying how large the file can be,
- file name structure - if a given university requires a specific name of a diploma thesis file – then the system will not allow adding a file with a name other than that provided for by the given scheme shown in the application.

In addition, we specify the language of the submitted work and we can add an additional description of the thesis.

Thesis promoter:	Małgorzata Opalińska

Picture 8 Sending the diploma thesis to the promoter

When the thesis is submitted for approval, the APD application sends an e-mail to the promoter with information about availability of the thesis to be checked. Below, the status of the thesis sent to the promoter.

Picture 9 Sending the thesis to the promoter

By logging into the application, the promoter has the opportunity to approve the diploma thesis or send it for improvement - e.g. to complete missing information. In the case of sending back for correction, the diploma thesis returns to the author of the thesis along with the promoter's comment, while the status of the thesis is withdrawn to author input.

After corrections and posting correct files - we send the thesis again to the promoter for approval. When the promoter approves and directs the thesis for review, the author will receive the thesis mail notification.

V. Issuing a review by the Reviewer of the Diploma Thesis.

After the diploma thesis is accepted by the promoter, the thesis is directed to designated reviewers.

Picture 10 Change of status for issuing a review

The reviewers determine the evaluation of the diploma thesis and the description of the review. At the moment if at least one of the reviewers will give a rating, the author of the work will receive an e-mail with a notification about the possibility of viewing review app.

After issuing a review, by logging into the application, you can view the review description in the Reviews tab by a given reviewer. The green icon means that the reviewer has rated the diploma thesis.

By clicking on the icon, we go to the details of the review.

VI. Downloading the version of the thesis – thesis ready for defense.

After all reviews have been issued, the status of the diploma thesis in the APD application will change to Diploma Thesis ready for defence.
